Library News

The Ortonville Public Library will have their Summer Reading Program, "Reading Colors Your World", starting June 14 continuing through July 30.

This program is free and available for up to 15 children.

We'll be exploring color through art and science activities, hoping to be outdoors as often as possible. There will be field trips to learn about birds and wildflowers, and sessions where we learn two different methods of abstract painting. We'll learn about coral reefs and make our own glow-in-the-dark dioramas; experiment with photo-sensitive paper to make "sun prints," learn about fossils, and even make some of our own out of clay and plaster.

Signup will start in June. Please watch for announcements on Ortonville Public Library's Facebook page and website.
